

Biography of Terry F. Unter

Dr Unter's thirty year international career has included senior management leadership roles in large corporations and in entrepreneurial start-ups.

Dr. Unter is President and CEO of Mintera Corporation, a venture-capital funded supplier of high bit-rate optical subsystems. Before this he was Chief Operating Officer at Corvis Corporation a supplier of optical communications systems which grew from a venture funded start-up to a publicly traded company. During the early 1990's he led the creation of Alcatel Optronics, a multinational organization headquartered in France supplying optoelectronic components and subsystems. From 1988 to 1991, Dr. Unter was General Manager of an Alcatel joint venture in Shanghai, China producing integrated circuits for telecommunications.

Dr. Unter has also held management and engineering positions with Northern Telecom in Canada, Alcatel Mietec in Belgium and Sprague Electric in the USA.

Dr. Unter holds B.Sc. (honors) and Ph.D. degrees in Electronic Engineering from Southampton University in the United Kingdom.